Dear colleagues,

Please allow let me introduce a series of special issues dedicated to the memory of Eugen Strouhal (1931–2016).

In the middle of October 2016, we heard the sad news, that Prof. MUDr. PhDr. Eugen Strouhal, MD., quietly passed away, after a prolific and hard working life, at the age of nearly 86 years. Eugen Strouhal was a significant figure in many fields, not only in medical circles, but also among those involved in archaeology, anthropology and palaeopathology, particularly in connection with scientific research and findings from numerous Czechoslovak and International expeditions to Egypt. Last, but not least, Eugen Strouhal was an active member of the Anthropologie Journal Editorial Board.

In his memory, we have prepared the following volumes of the Anthropologie journal. I am very pleased by wide range of interests and the collaboration of all his colleagues. I hope, the spectrum of the contributions reflect Strouhal's many fields of interest.

The Tabula gratoria, which will be included in part III, contains numerous persons and organisations from all over the scientific world.
